By F. M. L.

Dear Charlie,

Your omniscient presence is belied by your barracks-room response to the millions of striking workers and rebelling students.

Is it in keeping with your Premiership to mention something about "chienlit" when asked what you would do with those eight million upstarts? One is incredulous at the interpretation.

You have gone about the world doing so much for your countrymen and your Western friends. You have so many friends they want to stay in the streets and the factories rather than go home.

Why, Le Grand Charles, did you not stay home and solve some of these problems? Did you really believe disconcerting the West would calm the frazzled Left Bank?

You have seemed to serve France with your ploys in international finance, weaponry, diplomacy. You have, yet, to convince your people of that.

You achieve enormous measure of Western success when striking workers leave Paris streets littered with debris, somewhat like New York in the spring. Is this Paris in the Spring?

You have our sympathy with the rebellious students. We have those too. While your Sorbonne is sieged our Columbia is sacked. It is a little more than the normal rites of spring, isn't it?

Charlie, it is too much the same all over. You solve problems by staying home. So must we. The kids want to solve them, but don't know how; the workers want more money, but they can't buy a solution. It's at home, Charlie, this malheur. Now, even you must admit that.

Your press wonders at your actions, these many months since Quebec. And now eight million, for whatever reason, bring you home.

That's where real trouble starts, Charlie, at home. It is an old dodge to turn France's eyes elsewhere, but now they can't see over the debris on some Paris streets.

Is that what you mean in your response? You would do well to clean it up, Monsieur, and leave the rest of the world alone.

Absentee Voting Opens In Run-off

RUNOFFS FOR GOVERNOR, COMMISSIONER

The June 1 Democratic primary for governor is underway in absentee balloting, according to County Clerk Wayne Wieser.

Absentee voting in person or by mail opened Wednesday morning for the governor's nominee runoff at the Milam County Clerk's office. Absentee voting period in person ends May 28.

Persons voting by mail have until 1 p.m. Saturday, June 1, to return their ballots.

Main election of interest is the runoff between liberal Don Yarborough, 42, twice before a gubernatorial candidate, and conservative Preston Smith, 56, incumbent lieutenant governor.

Local precinct runoffs on the respective precinct ballots, but of course, not on all ballots, are:

—For Commissioner, Precinct 4, challenger Dalton Caffey and incumbent Mrs. Dora McCasland, widow of the former commissioner who, by a new state law for all office appointees, must stand for election after appointment.

—For Constable, Precinct 2, Roy Yates and Charles W. Bailey.

Political observers are watching Milam County, which has favored Yarborough in earlier votes, but cast 1257 votes for him in the first May primary and divided about 3780 votes among Smith, who was second in Milam County with 1030 votes, Dolph Briscoe with 953, Waggoner Carr with 914, John Hill with 397 and Eugene Locke with 309. All these candidates are considered more conservative than Yarborough.

Both gubernatorial runoff candidates are covering the state in concerted campaign trips, seeking votes on Smith's experience of 18 years in state government and Yarborough's zeal for "new ideas in Austin."

First primary candidates Carr, Hill, Locke and Briscoe have endorsed Smith's candidacy in the Democratic runoff June 1, according to a Herald survey.

Officials said the second primary will be held at the same voting boxes, 34 in Milam County except for Precinct 37, Marak, which is being moved to the Frank Mikulec store from Parish Hall.

Turnout in the first Democratic primary in May was 5301 votes, according to Democratic Chairman Max McClaren.

A second primary generally does not attract as heavy a voter turnout.

50 Young Contestants

Poultry Show Saturday

Growers in the 1968 Milam County Junior Broiler contest will groom their entries for judging Saturday in Cameron.

Fifty young growers, sponsored by local and county business firms, received baby chicks 9 weeks ago. From each flock of fifty chicks the grower will select five for judging Saturday. These are given to the sponsor following the contest and the remaining chicks are kept by the grower.

Each grower qualified for the program by his or her membership in the county 4-H or school FFA chapters. The chicks have been raised according to FFA and 4-H specifications.

Dr. C. B. Ryan of the Poultry Science Dept., Texas A&M University, will act as official judge. Judging will begin at 9 a.m. in the building formerly occupied by Wilson's Jewelers on North Houston Street.

An awards banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Methodist Fellowship Hall. Sponsors will accompany growers to the banquet.

Billy Hornung, chairman of the Chamber's Poultry Committee, said additional tickets for the banquet will be available at the Chamber office at $1.50 each. Deadline for buying extra tickets is noon Friday.

The show and judging Saturday will mark the 14th consecutive broiler program sponsored by the Cameron Chamber of Commerce.

Council Hears Final Reading On Street Plans

The City Council Tuesday night at City Hall heard a second and final reading of the major street ordinance, which appears in this edition of The Herald.

The Council approved a recommendation that City Hall offices begin closing on Saturday mornings, Saturday, June 1.

Emergency sewer and water service on Saturday and Sunday after that date may be obtained by calling 697-3051 or 697-3381.

Mayor E. A. Perrin and attorneys were in Houston concerning FFA funds for the Cameron Airpark.

Approval in Fort Worth has been received for the North Cameron water - sewer project through Housing and Urban Development. But further details have to be worked out in Washington, city officials told The Herald.

The City Equalization Board of August Kunz, Joe Heitman and Joe Matula are working with City Secretary Buddy Fuller on the 1968 tax rolls.

Routine reports show that mowing and street maintenance are major projects at present. A list of lots needing cleanup and mowing was turned in, according to Works Supt. J. B. Earle.

Drainage work is being developed on West 12th St. and paving of Burns Ave. between East Seventh and East Eighth Sts. is underway.

Other Council actions okayed routine bills and a minor transfer of funds.

Centex Program Moves Foreward

County Judge O. B. Harden has announced the appointment of George W. Hutton to the Board of Directors of Central Texas Economic Development District.

Hutton, Administrative Manager at Alcoa's Rockdale Works, succeeds John Brust of Alcoa who was recently transferred.

Hutton will represent Milam County as one of its six directors on the board of the 12-county organization which has its headquarters at Waco.

Jack Gilmore, assistant CTED director, recently returned from California where he contacted firms about locating in Central Texas.

Gilmore visited 12 firms in the Los Angeles area and six in the San Francisco Bay area. He said several of the firms expressed interest in Central Texas and the economic development program which can make long term, low interest loans and help communities develop industrial sites.

Products manufactured by the companies included aerospace products, plastics, data processing equipment, millwork, toys, automotive parts and food processing.

"Industry is becoming more and more concerned with the high taxes, high production cost and extremely high land costs on the West Coast," Gilmore said. "Texas with its excellent business climate, favorable tax and land costs and its highly trainable and productive labor force is in a good position to attract expanding industry."

The Economic Development District was instrumental in securing a $150,000 federal grant for Marlin last week. The grant will be used to build additional mineral water bath facilities in a move to rejuvenate Marlin as a health resort and spa.

The project, started by the Marlin Hot Water Development Foundation, will be completed at an estimated $250,000. Marlin businessmen have pledged $25,000 and the remaining funds will be borrowed.

You say you'd like a few suggestions on how to get more out of your telephone service?

1. Whenever you're moving to another town within the Bell System, let us arrange for your phone service before you move. If you know the address of your new home, we can make arrangements in advance so you'll have the exact service you want in your new home. We'll also refer calls from your old phone to your new number if you like. Just call the business office and ask about our Easy Move Plan. There's no extra charge.

2. Speaking of moving, we hope you realize that wherever you move in the Bell System, there is no color charge for the phones at your new address if you had color phones at your old address.

3. Ever wonder what to do when you get a wrong number on a Long Distance call? Just hang up, dial "0" for "Operator," and tell her what happened. She'll see that you're not charged for the call.

4. And if you ever lose your dime in an out-of-order pay telephone, just go to a working phone and report it to the Operator. [illegible] to you. Also, if you give her the number of the [illegible] order phone, we'll get it fixed right away.

5. Long Distance interstate rates are lower all day Saturday and Sunday, and after 7 p.m. each weekday. You can also save money if you call by number. A station-to-station Long Distance call costs about one-third less than a person-to-person call.

At Southwestern Bell, our goal is to help you get the very best telephone service. We want your every "hello" to be a real good buy.

DOORS OF YOE

By Jane Callaway

"For Whom The Bells Toll" - or something like that - last week of school brings final exams. Well, it is "sink or swim" now - all you lifesavers stay close at hand.

Slave Day was wild. There was an old woman wandering around the halls that turned out to be Johnny McLerran. He (she) couldn't keep a hairnet on - Ralph Cannon kept lifting it off with a fishing pole. That poem showed you are on your way to becoming a real poet, Mike H. Harry, why did you let Paul have your bugle? You see what I meant by "wild" -it was fun and our teachers were understanding and tolerant. I'm sure that took some doing.

The Band Booster Club gave our band a barbecue last Tuesday. We did enjoy it - they deserve a big vote of thanks for all the work.

We have a new Junior Cheerleader for next year - Renee Cummings. She's a pretty cute gal - ask Mike. And, congratulations to Buttons Cochran because she will be the new freshman cheerleader.

Awards were given at an assembly last Wednesday. You can read all about it in this week's paper.

The Junior Class honored the Senior Class with the annual Junior - Senior Banquet Saturday night. This year, Mardi Gras came to the Methodist Fellowship Hall. Some of the sophomores helped decorate and serve. We liked helping - thanks for asking us. The Mardi Gras theme was carried out with balloons, paper flowers and streamers in bright colors. Thanks to Fritz Pratt for the mural he did - he has some talent. Al, did you ever get that carrot?

The Program: Invocation, Patricia Stroup; Welcome, Marilyn Perrin; Response, Glenn Fogle; Remarks, D. R. Dodson; Prophecies, Danny Matula; Guest Speaker, Eugene Smitherman; Benediction, Ricky Bradley. Mr. Dodson, how about that Mr., Dr.? Now, that's a new title. Senior prophecies were super - wish I had space to tell you all about them.

Paul Chandler had a barbecue for the football boys - that was a real water fight!

The Mad Mods played for a good dance at the Teen Club Saturday night. This was the best one! Cynthia, glad you found your shoes.

Water Systems Spur Progress

"Rural community progress in Texas has been spurred by the development of 436 modern water systems, sewer systems, and recreation centers through the Farmers Home Administration," Milam County Supervisor Henry N. Ivey, said today.

Water supply problems have been solved for more than 180,000 people in rural Texas through 418 water systems made possible by FHA loans and grants totaling more than $54 million. The new systems serve both rural towns and countrysides where the people have had to exist on uncertain and, sometimes unsafe water supplies.

Ivey said three rural communities in the state also have new or improved waste disposal systems through FHA loans and grants approved the past two years At present, there are 48 waste disposal projects underway in Texas from application stage to those under construction.

"We are beginning to make real progress toward the President's goal of clear, constant water for all of rural America," Ivey said. Towns benefited by the program are able to improve living standards and accommodate new business and industry when they can offer the same kind of water service found in the city."

"A typical effect, "Ivey said, "is seen at Gause where 21 new homes have been built, 18 improved and one new business opened since a community water system was completed in 1964."

Through insurance of private loan financing, the Agency also has made possible the construction of 15 outdoor recreation centers developed by community associations and serving an estimated 13,500 people in rural Texas.

The centers give rural families the same opportunity as city and suburban dwellers to enjoy modern swimming pools, playing fields, golf, boating, and other forms of outdoor recreation.

How Can Dairy Products Help?

By Christine Laws

Ever consider how much dairy products can contribute to a varied menu?

Dairy foods come in so many different forms you hardly recognize the similarities. Yet the high nutrition is common to all.

Milk preparations vary from dry milk to skim to fresh milk. Then you have the cheeses. Don't overlook sweet and sour creams, ice cream and yogurt.

Naturally the selection makes for tasty eating in a variety of ways. You'll find all these dairy products in plentiful supply now. This is the time of year when dairy production nears its peak, especially with June, Dairy Month around the corner.

Cottage cheese is the simplest form of cheese. This creamy white goodness is just soft uncured curds of skim milk seasoned with cream. It rates high in popularity with cooks because it is high in protein, low in calories, easily digested and ready to serve.

For an appetizer, try Cheese Dip. Blend cottage cheese until smooth and creamy with a small amount of milk. Then add garlic, spices, horseradish, chives, herbs, shrimp or deviled ham to taste. It's just right to serve with crunchy potato chips, crackers or carrot sticks.

Cottage Cheese Sandwich Filling

1 cup cottage cheese, 1 tbsp mayonnaise, ½ tbsp grated onion, 3 or 4 slices diced, crisp bacon, 2 tbsp chopped sweet pickle

Blend cottage cheese with mayonnaise, then mix in bacon, pickle and onion. Serve on whole wheat toast. Makes four sandwiches.

LOOK GOOD! DRESS WELL THIS VACATION

(Ed. note: Second in a series of vacation information articles to aid families planning to "Discover America" this summer.)

Now is the time to plan what you'll wear and take, and to consider packing problems. Discover America, Inc., and travel experts of this non-profit organization, established to encourage travel in the U.S., offer these suggestions:

1. Be a credit to your community. Vacation time should not be an excuse for wearing your oldest and sloppiest clothes, for tramping around with curlers in your hair, or for forgetting to shave. Whether traveling by plane, bus, car or train, the vacationer should make an effort to be neat and clean, and dressed appropriately, remembering that sports clothes are strictly for sports.

2. Travel light. If the gear wedged into station wagons, and the luggage and equipment stacked in hotel lobbies at check-out time are any indication, most American vacationers travel with too much baggage. A guideline is to take a week's worth of clothing for a two-week vacation, with an emphasis on cotton and synthetic knits for women, and wash-and-wear shirts and trousers for men. Check weather information, to determine whether you'll need warm weather clothing, but even in the hottest climes, take along a sweater as protection against chilly air conditioning. A raincoat is usually handy, and it can double as a bathrobe.

Each family member should have his or her own suitcase, with a checklist of the contents taped to the inside of the lid. Small children can share a suitctse. In addition, there should be one expandable tote bag to hold family conveniences and necessities, including small toys and games for the children, snacks to satisfy hunger pangs when meals are late, a thermos for ice water, can and bottle openers, a small flashlight, an alarm clock, a transistor radio, a first-aid kit, sewing kit, nickel-pack of paper tissues, and plastic bags for the collection and disposal of refuse.

A valet-pack to hold clothing on hangers is convenient, but when one is used, the suitcases that complement it should be extra small. Each suitcase, in any event, should be equipped with a plastic bag for soiled laundry.

3. Get it enroute. When traveling in the U.S., shops and stores are seldom more than a few minutes' drive away, and are either in, or a few steps away from, hotels and motels. Unless you have a special attachment for your own equipment, remember that items like beach umbrellas, fishing rods, golf clubs can usually be rented for nominal fees. And, unless you have a predilection for certain brands available only where you live, cosmetics, toiletries, and even clothing can easily bought enroute. Most communities have same-day dry cleaning service, and coin operated automatic laundries abound.

Well-planned clothing and equipment, but not too much of it, can greatly increase your vacation pleasure as you discover America this summer.

PARTIES FETE ROGERS GRADS

Gifts were presented to the honorees. Special guests were Mrs. Doyle Ray and Mrs. D. D. Ward.

A party Monday night at the Rogers Clubhouse honored these candidates for promotion to high school from the eighth grade: Leon Petty, Bruce Guess, Jamie Clowers, Dearl Crawford, and Jody Belicek.

Hostesses were their parents, Mrs. B. M. Guess, Mrs. Clayton Clowers, Mrs. Wayne Crawford, Mrs. Tommy Petty, and Mrs. Joe Belicek. Sponsors and the eighth grade class were guests.

BARBECUE FETES SA 8TH GRADERS

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Litzman and Mr. and Mrs. George Hollas honored St. Anthony graduates, Judy Hollas and Dale Litzman at a barbecue Saturday evening at the Litzman home.

CO-OPERATION

...the joint action having survival values. How awful to be a foe, —against everything good. If you would build a greater church; a finer society; a better world...cooperation is necessary. If progress is expected, teamwork is a must. Thank God for power which increases with effort. Don't break up the meeting when the majority votes against you...join hands for the common good. Pool your efforts for the glory of God. Rivalry must give way to progress, to constructive cooperation. Let us work together for good, for God,— for the night cometh when on man can work.

American Cancer Society Budgets Research, Education, Patient Aid

A breakdown of how funds raised by the American Cancer Society are budgeted reveals that about 37 cents of each dollar goes to finance scientific research projects according to Mrs. W. C. Wallace, Public Education chairman of the Milam County Unit of the ACS. The Society allocated over 18 million dollars to research in 1967, she said.

This broad area of cancer research includes financing of all special projects dealing with investigation into how cancer starts, how it can be halted or even reversed or prevented.

Research investments undertaken by the ACS have helped develop procedures like the Pap test, credited with saving thousands of lives from uterine cancer.

Another 15 percent of each dollar is budgeted for public health education in which every means is employed to persuade the public to seek treatment at the earliest possible indication of the presence of cancer. This includes an annual checkup and knowing and acting on cancer's warning signals.

Education and instruction of doctors and nurses to the latest developments in cancer detection and treatment take another 9 percent of each dollar.

Other allocations are for service to cancer patients involving easing and lightening the many burdens which cancer places on its victims, Mrs. Wallace pointed out, with such services receiving approximately 17 percent. The field of public information received 4 percent.

Administration costs are 8 percent and fund raising is budgeted at 10 percent. This meets the uniform accounting standards of the National Health Council, an organization of leading voluntary health agencies.

The combination of science, medicine and education is 'succeeding in saving more lives each year from cancer. "The dollar you gave for the Cancer Crusade."

It shall not be necessary to levy all of the assessments at one time or by a single ordinance, and said hearing may be closed as to each portion of a street or avenue constituting a unit of improvement (as such units are designated below), after a fair opportunity for hearing has been afforded to all desiring to contest the assessments proposed to be levied against the owners and their properties abutting on a portion of each such street or avenue constituting a unit of improvement; and the City Council shall then have the power to levy such assessments against such abutting properties and against the owners thereof, as provided herein and in the prior proceedings of the City Council herein referred to. All of said owners, claimants, railways and other interested parties, their agents or attorneys, are hereby referred for further information to the proceedings with reference to said improvements on file and-or of record with the City Secretary of the City of Cameron, Texas, and particularly to the estimate of the City's Engineer, and to the proposed assessment roll wherein the exact amount proposed to be assessed against each abutting property and the owner thereof is set forth; said City's Engineer's estimate and said proposed assessment roll being on file in the office of the City Secretary.

III

The streets and avenues or portions thereof to be improved within the limits designated by the City Council are listed below as they have been divided by said City Council into separate and distinct improvement units. There is stated in connection with the listing of each street and avenue or portion thereof within the limits herein defined constituting each improvement unit the estimated amount per front foot to be assessed against the owners of properties abutting such street or avenue or portion thereof and such properties, the estimated amount proposed to be assessed against railways owning or claiming any interest in or lien upon such abutting properties, the amount to be assessed as a tax against any railway using, occupying or crossing any of such streets or avenues within such limits for the cost of the improvements to be constructed in the area between and under rails, tracks, double tracks, turnouts and switches, and two feet on each side thereof, and the estimated total cost of the street improvements in each improvement unit and the width of paved surface to be attained from back of curb to back of curb.

In each unit, except Units 2 and 8, there is included in the estimated amount per front foot proposed to be assessed against abutting properties and the owners thereof approximately $1.48 per linear foot for curb and gutter. In the event there is adequate existing concrete curb and gutter abutting any one or more of the properties being improved, which curb and gutter can be utilized without reconstruction or realignment, such curb and gutter abutting such properties shall be utilized and no assessment will be levied against such properties or the owners thereof for curbs and gutters.

In Units 2 and 8, no curb and gutter will be laid and the rates shown above with respect to these units are for paving only.

The designation of such streets and avenues or portions thereof and such other information is as follows:

Friendship Noted For Hospitality

(ED. NOTE: Information on the Milam County community of Friendship was submitted by Mrs. H. C. Pope.)

Friendship has lived up to its name, from the early days when friend and stranger alike were welcomed at the W. T. Walker home, to the present when former residents return each year for memorial services and dinner on the church grounds.

There was a settlement on Little River west of the Cummings Crossing, close to the present Friendship, before the Civil War. Two of the families living there were the E. W. (Ned) Grahams and David Ross family. Men leaving to fight in the Civil War ate their parting meal at the Ned Graham home. David Ross was among those who lost their lives on the battlefield.

The W. S. McQuary family came in 1875. Their sons operated a horse-powered gin built of hand-hewn oak timbers. Ginned cotton was carried from the gin stands to the press in baskets.

Another family arriving in 1875 were the W. T. Walkers and Mrs. Walker's father, Hiram Madison. They traveled with a wagon train and on the way one of the wagon wheels broke. Grandpa Madison cut new spokes with an ax. When a young man helping cut his knee, Mrs. Walker closed the wound with her sewing needle and beeswaxed thread.

The Walker family had seven sons and two daughters. Much of their food on the journey to Milam County was wild game. Their first Christma dinner in their new home was fish and wild turkey.

The Walker men were farmers and ginners. One taught school and one was a surveyor. The family home was known as a haven for the wayfarer and food was ready for whoever might come: friend, kinsman or stranger.

Some of the early settlers in Friendship were Fowler, Neil, Guptell, Dodson, Blackwell, Mewhinney, Looney, Massey, Robertson Doggett, Keith, McClung, Strickland, Linney, McCormick, and Hardy.

The first school was built in 1872. It was of logs with a dirt and stick chimney. Church services were also held there. Mr. Fowler and Mr. John Looney, a lawyer and surveyor, were early teachers.

Ned Graham gave land for the Friendship Cemetery and Methodist Church which was built in 1884. The church was rebuilt in 1922.

At one time the Friendship community had two stores, a brick kiln, school and church and, at different times, four cotton gins.

A tradition in the community is the Memorial service held on the Saturday before the first Sunday in June for over 70 years. Another occasion when former residents gather is Thanksgiving Day. Dinner is spread on tables behind the church following services and old friendships are renewed.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

WHEN A CHILD DARTS OUT

Rare is the parent, and rare is the motorist, who has not been haunted by the vision of a child darting out in front of an oncoming automobile. Yet, tragically, such accidents are anything but rare.

If a child is injured or killed in this manner, who bears the legal responsibility?

In a sense the child himself is at fault, since he 'took the initiative" in causing the accident. But the law adjusts its standard of care to fit the age of the individual. In most of these darting-out cases, the child is too young to be tagged with the label of neglignece.

Yet, the fact that the child is not responsible does not automatically shift responsibility to the motorist. Our impulsive, humanitarian sympathy for the youthful victim does not justify placing the blame on someone who is truly blameless.

Thus, a motorist is ordinarily not liable for running down the child who darts out suddenly from behind a parked car. For there is nothing to give the motorist fair warning of what is to come.

But there are many circumstances which should put the motorist on a special alert. An obvious example is the presence of a child in the street. The motorist should not assume, even if he blows his horn, that the child will promptly and prudently retreat to the sidewalk.

Even if there is no child in sight, other telltale signs may cry caution. For example:

In one case, the fact that a ball bounced into the street was held good reason for an oncoming motorist to expect that a child might follow.

In another case, a posted notice of "CHILDREN AT PLAY" was held sufficient to call for extra careful driving.

It is true that this special responsibility on the motorist, when children are in sight or in prospect, has a tendency to slow the movement of traffic.

But it is also true that cars are killing thousands of our youngsters every year. The law is willing to slow the traffic, to slow the slaughter.

DIPLOMATIC POUCH

WASHINGTON D.C. The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State.

HISTORY

I would be very pleased with your cooperation for the following problem: I have a Russian post card used in St. Petersburg in 1918 with the following inscription —American Embassy Relief Office. I would like to find out the reason of this office, time of operation and at the time (1918) the head person in the office.

With many thanks to your attention and cooperation I am

A.P.
Curitiba, Brasil

Dear Col. P.:

Following the outbreak of hostilities between Russia and the Central Powers, the American Embassy in St. Petersburg (Petrograd) had the responsibility of representing German and Austrian interests and of looking after the welfare of German and Austrian prisoners of war in Russia. The Honorable David R. Francis, the American Ambassador in Russia from 1916 to 1918 has written in his book, Russia From the American Embassy (Scribner's, New York, 1921), that the Embassy's work of caring for the German and Austrian prisoners required "the exclusive services of a large corps of able assistants, known as the Relief Corps," and elsewhere in his book, he refers to the "prison camps which it was the duty of the Relief Corps of the American Embassy to inspect." The offices of the Relief Corps, according to the Ambassador's account, were located in the Austrian Embassy building "which we had taken over at the time we assumed charge of Austrian interests."

A few days after diplomatic relations between the U.S. and Germany were severed on Feb. 3, 1917, the protection of German interests in Russia was turned over to Sweden. Although the American Embassy did not consider it practical to continue with a relief program for Austria alone, this responsibility was, at therequestof ponsibility was. at the request of the Austrian Government, continued until the severance of relations with Austria in April 1917.

In his book Russia Leaves The War, George F. Kennan refers to Mr. William Franklin Sands as the "former head of the prisoner of war section of the Embassy. According to the Department of State Register, Mr. Sands was Special Assistant to the Ambassador from November 1916 to May 1917. There is some evidence, however, in the book by Ambassador Francis which seems to indicate that by March 1917 Mr. Sands had been succeeded as head of the Embassy's relief section by Mr. Basil Miles, also Special Assistant to the Ambassador. The relief activities described above appear to have ceased when the United States entered the war in April 1917. The American Embassy in Petrograd was closed and the Ambassador and Embassy staff left the city on Feb. 26, 1918.

Bette Whitlev Represents Yoe At Symposium

Rep. Craig Hosmer of California, ranking minority member of the Joint Committee of Congress on Atomic Energy, will address the Eighth Texas Nuclear Science Symposium for High Schools at the University of Texas in Austin June 4-7.

The four-day meeting, held annually at the university, is sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy versity. Texas Power and Light Company and nine other electric power companies in Texas make up the foundation.

Bette Whitley of Cameron has been selected by school officials to attend the symposium. She will be accompanied by Fred Johns, Yoe High School teacher.

Some 500 outstanding science students and their teachers will attend the meeting in Austin. They will have the opportunity to hear scientists from the fields of both industry and education discuss nuclear physics and related topics. Two afternoons will be spent touring the science laboratories of the university.

"Texas Power & Light Company is interested in this research as a future source of generation of electricity," TP&L manager Henry Siebman said. "These experiments are aimed at eventual control of the nuclear reaction which takes place in the hydrogen bomb. When harnessed, the energy released in this nuclear reaction could be used for such peaceful purposes as power generation."

County Agent's Notes

Spray Twice For Casebearer

By J. D. Moore

Growers may need two sprayings to control the pecan nut casebearer. The cold weather has extended larvae and pupae stages so that emergence of moths is being extended over a longer than usual period of time, according to our Extension entomologist, and two sprayings may be advisable.

The biology of this insect shows that egg laying begins the second night after the female moth emerges and reaches a peak on the third night. Ordinarily moths live only about 4 to 7 days, where temperatures are high enough to permit normal maturity mating and egg laying. Where cool night temperatures restrict mating and egglaying, survival of moth is extended to 14 to 20 days. Once egg laying begins, the moths become "spent" and die in 2 or 3 days.

The eggs require 4 to 5 days to hatch and the small worms feed 1-2 days on buds below the clusters. Effective insecticide applications must be made early enough to catch the majority of the larvae before they enter the nutlet cluster. Local trees sprayed May 15 - 20 may need spraying again the last week in May.

KNOTS & GALLS ON TREES

Many local trees are affected with a large number of gall-like growths. This is caused by the pecan phylloxera in the case of pecan trees. This condition is caused by a soft-bodied insect which is closely related to aphids. This insect spends the winter in the egg stage usually under the bark of the tree.

In the spring, the egg hatches and the tiny nymph feeds on the tender, young growth, apparently secreting a substance which stimulates the plant tissues to develop galls.

After the nymph reaches maturity a number of eggs are deposited inside the gall. The young develop inside the gall which splits open in 1 to 3 weeks. Several generations follow during the summer and fall.

The dormant oil spray recommended for scale control will prevent the development of the phylloxera.

TPL Promotes Execs To Board: Names Division Manager

James D. Eppright and Trent C. Root, Jr., were named vice presidents of Texas Power & Light Company at a meeting of the TP &L board of directors in Dallas Wednesday.

Eppright, general manager of sales, served as assistant vice president since 1964. Root, manager of the Company's public service department, also had been an assistant vice president since 1964.

Jack C. Vaughan of Richardson has been named Southern Division manager, headquartered in Waco, for Texas Power & Light Company, T. L. Austin, Jr., TP&L president, announced today.

Vaughan, district manager for TP&L's Richardson district since 1958, succeeds J. L. Murchison who passed away recently. Murchison served as Southern Division manager since 1961.

Districts which make up the Southern Division are Cameron, Corsicana, Hillsboro, Killeen, Taylor, Temple, Belton, McGregor and Waco.

Texas oil men, according to Rinehart's yearbook, drilled 38 wells in the county risking some $1.4 million. Forty-two percent of them were dry holes, costing about $707,000.

County landowners and others with mineral interests cashed royalty checks totaling about $28,000 during the year. Likewise, the county's flow of oil generates $10,000 a year in production taxes paid by producers and royalty owners to the state treasury.

Reports from the Texas Employment Commission show some 26 persons directly employed by the oil and gas industry in the county, with an annual payroll of $84,000.

Wheat farmer representatives who took part in informal hearings early in May on the 1969 national wheat acreage allotment generally favored a 10 to 15 percent reduction from the 1968 acreage allotment.

Additional acreage reduction through payments for diversion below the reduced allotments was also quite generally recommended.

Informal hearings were held at ten locations throughout the country, including one at Amarillo, to enable producers, their organization leaders and people of the wheat trade and processing industives to express their views and recommendations regarding the acreage allotment. However, the final decision must be made by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Producers generally agreed that a harvest from 45 to 48 million acres would be plenty of wheat in 1969 as compared with the harvest of 59 million acres in 1967. In 1968, planted acreage is estimated at 62.7 million acres, and the winter wheat crop is forecast as a near-record.

In view of the prospective increase in wheat carryover at the end of the current marketing year and the possibility of a further increase after marketing of the 1968 crop, most recommendations say the program should encourage farmers to reduce production below the level of consumption and thus reduce stocks.

Although some interests favor larger volume of wheat production than do most producers in the current situation, little opposition was expressed to the program objectives of maintaining balance between supply and demand. In addition, there was general agreement on a need for an effective wheat program in the years ahead.

Applications for the 11th annual Summer Music Camp sponsored by the Baylor University School of Music are still being accepted, according to camp director Dr. Bernard Smith. The camp will be June 1-9. It is open to high school students who have completed at least the ninth grade.

Milam Crude Oil Production In 1966 Valued At $224,000

Milam County produced crude oil valued at $224,000 in 1966, according to statistics released this week by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, based on most recent U.S. Bureau of Mines pruduction figures.

Texas oil production in 1967, responding to demands for more domestic crude as a result of the Israeli-Arab conflict, totaled 1,050,000,000 barrels, a statewide increase over 1966 of about 5 percent. Production last year varied widely among state Railroad Commission districts, however, ranging from 3.5 percent below 1966 to 15 percent above.

"Production from Milam County last summer helped prevent any oil scarcity for U.S. consumers at a time when one-third of the world's supply was cut off," said Corbin J. Robertson, Houston, Association president. "We must keep in mind, however, that it may be difficult for Texas fields to sustain production in future emergencies if the discovery of new reserves continues to lag, due to lack of exploratory drilling."

The annual study showed that Milam County ranked 178th among Texas counties in total value of its production of some 75,000 barrels of oil.

BEN MILAM STATUE

Our Present, Their Future . . . .

This Herald lead editorial of May 25, 1967 is still apropos in 1968—Ed.

The Herald joins dozens of firms in the Milam area saluting the graduates of Yoe High School, Buckholts, Milano and Rogers High Schools.

The present generation wants to be "involved" and, having paused for high school matriculation, will be.

Graduates are admonished this way and that, but the final choice, as always, is theirs. Parents and friends can advise and share pride in accomplishment and encourage, but the young must act.

They face sober alternatives, not that they can not "laugh," as Horatio Alger once trumpeted, "at adversity."

They must be "well rounded" in a computerized economy, loyal in Vietnam war amidst internationalizing society, sophisticated in a world seeking bedrock values, personable in an impersonal world.

Their generation has sought counsel from their parents, returned from World War II, and found plenty of competition at home. Some of this nation's graduate corps joins rebellion in the street and anarchy in manner, dress and character. More than ever, they seek help.

Graduates are better educated for now, but are likely to find that education obsolete in a few years after college or technical training. Where do they "pin the tail on this donkey?"

Many grow up, seeking to adhere to basic concepts, and are told, as young adults, that much about honor and truth and loyalty is debunked by fact. And parents and friends wonder why they weren't more frank.

The incubation period, in a time of war, is brief, and a young man, bright as a silver dollar and handsome as some mythological Greek warrior, may find himself squirming through a rice paddy in Southeast Asia.

Graduates have a lot of ways to turn.

We who watch them graduate can only hope our present was good enough for their future.

What Others Say . . . .

Convention ABCs . . . .

Political conventions are important, and television helps to make them memorable. Still, we think the American Broadcasting Company is wise in stepping out of the play-by-play coverage competition in favor of 90-minute nightly summaries.

It takes a lot of public spirit for the network reporters to stay in there and improvise for six, eight and ten hours at a crack—but it takes a lot of fortitude for the public to last through some of the inane chatter that even the best of the commentators are reduced to when the pickings get slim.

The other two networks will evidently return to the gavel-to-gavel endurance contest next summer, and will thereby be on hand for assorted spot news breaks. But we think ABC will do just as well—and save itself a pile of money—by breaking in live for important developments but otherwise culling out the nonsense instead of asking the viewers to do the job.

Bidrin® Insecticide makes it easy to be sure of your insect control during the time when damage by thrips, aphids, fleahoppers and other pests results in spotty stands, and the growth slowdowns that actually delay maturity of the crop.

Unlike the soil insecticides, Bidrin meets the problem head on. You spray it when you know you've got a stand, and when you see the need for insect control. With Bidrin you're in control of the timing, the insects and your insecticide investment.

Rely on Bidrin, first for powerful contact control of insects on your cotton when you spray. Then weather-proof, systemic control (from the same application) that keeps the crop protected for up to 21 days.

We have Bidrin in quart and gallon sizes. Call us today.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

I found this newspaper caught on some weeds in my front yard out here on this Johnson grass farm—I know you're supposed to keep a lawn mowed and trimmed under some rules I didn't vote on, but how many neatly mowed lawns have you ever seen that were worth anything at catching wind-blown newspapers? When it comes to mowing or being informed, a thinking man knows where to draw the line, and besides, weeds have their rights, the same as college students. Just because they're obnoxious is no reason for getting rid of them. Give them time, they'll both go to seed sooner or later.

At any rate, I pulled that newspaper off the patch of weeds and sat down on the front porch and right off ran into two items that startled me.

One said that Prime Minister Pearson of Canada, who has retired, will become a professor of international affairs at a university up there, and the other said President Johnson, when he leaves the Presidency in January, will also become a college professor.

I've been thinking, do those fellows know what they're getting into? Aren't they jumping from the frying pan into the fire?

If President Johnson thinks Viet Nam is a headache, wait till he runs into a bunch of militant college students. Up to now, the U.S. President's office has been safe in Washington, but look what can happen to a college president's office.

Why I can imagine General Westmoreland over in Viet Nam saying, "All right, move me to Washington as Chief of Staff or leave me here with the war, but whatever you do, don't make me president of a college. I've got my family to think of."

Somebody ought to let the President and the Prime Minister know what they're getting into, and if they still persist in going ahead, the least their governments can do is provide them with a life-time use of tanks for getting to and from classes and underground bomb shelters to teach in.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

New 125 Million Tax Bill Awaits Legislators June 4

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

State legislators will return to Austin on June 4. This time to complete the budget-writing chore they put off last year, and to pass a new $125 million tax bill.

Indications are strong that the bulk of the funds will come through the sales tax route.

Gov. John Connally told reporters he is "fairly certain" he will suggest raising the two percent sales tax rate to three percent, then refund the increase to the cities on the basis of their 1960 populations. This would replace the present local option city sales levies adopted by 267 cities since last September.

Proposal would provide incorporated cities with $125 million a year overall in state aid. State would gain $35 to $40 million from the increased rate due to sales in unincorporated areas.

Other recommendations expected in Connally's sales tax package include: removing of some sales tax exemptions; taxing of services like laundry and haircuts; and increasing the auto sales tax rate to three percent.

Governor also stated he might suggest a liquor by the drink bill as part of his tax program. Legislative sources say he will suggest local option authority to sell liquor in small, one drink size bottles under stiff state tax and strict regulation.

Connally told reporters that overall revision of the liquor laws also may be proposed. He intends to submit no other business until financial necessities are handled.

He expressed confidence that the budget and tax bill can be passed within the 30-day limit.

If lawmakers vote the same way their constituents did on the liquor by the drink referendum May 4 the governor may have a chance with the small bottles bill. At least 82 of the 150 state representatives and 17 of the 31 senators live in districts which voted for mixed drinks, with varying enthusiasm.

COURTS SPEAK

Texas' law banning mass picketing in labor disputes withstood another State Supreme Court test when lower court rulings in favor of the statute were affirmed. High court agreed with intermediate Fourth Court of Civil Appeals, however, that the display of Mexican strike banners in a Laredo dispute should not be enjoined.

Question of whether voter registration applications must be submitted individually has been taken to the Texas Supreme Court.

High court said Texas statute which allows unlimited damages to survivors cannot be applied to fatal accidents involving Texans in other states.

An Abilene man should get a full trial on his $185,000 malpractice suit against two doctors, Supreme Court held.

Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a new trial for wealthy Houston tobacco wholesaler Mair J. Schepps, who received a seven-year prison sentence on a charge of counterfeiting tax stamps.

Third Court of Civil Appeals affirmed a district court decision denying a $98,696 sales tax refund to a New York firm which claimed it received notice of deficiency more than three years after the date taxes were due.

DRAFT QUOTA CUT

Texas draft quota for June has been reduced by nearly a third, says Selective Service Director Col. Morris S. Schwartz.

State quota of 1,416 men has been trimmed to 961 on the basis of a new order by Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national draft director. National quota, all for the Army, was reduced from 29,500 to 20,000 at the direction of the Department of Defense.

Call for July is expected to be only 15,000, meaning a Texas share of 700 to 750. May call was increased 4.3 percent late last month, in order to provide some manpower for the Marine Corps, as well as the Army.

Draft boards will forward 8,500 men to examining and entrance stations next month for pre-induction physical and mental examinations. May total is 9,000.

SPEIR HEADS DPS

Texas Public Safety Commission officially designated one time high school principal Wilson E. (Pat) Speir as acting director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Speir succeeds the late Col. Homer Garrison Jr. who headed the DPS for nearly 30 years. He had been Garrison's top assistant for six years.

Speir is a veteran of more than a quarter century of service with the state police. He was born and attended schools at Gilmer, graduated at East Texas State College in Commerce and was principal of Harmony High School for a year.

PARK SITES ADDED

Parks and Wildlife Commission has accepted 85 acres of land containing four early military posts which played important roles in the development of Texas.

Sites include Fort Leaton near Presidio, Fort McKavett near Menard, Fort Lancaster near Ozona and Fort Richardson near Jacksboro.

PWC Chairman Will Odom says the sites will be added to the state park system and facilities will be restored and preserved as an historical heritage for future Texans.

Odom also announced that a $14,275 federal grant has been approved for development of recreational facilities at Fort Griffin State Park 15 miles north of Albany. PWC will match the federal grant for a 503-acre park.

POLICE TRAINING SCHOOL

House Speaker Ben Barnes says he will ask Gov. Connally to include in the special legislative session agenda a bill to create a statewide police training school to be called the "Homer Garrison Jr. Law Enforcement Academy."

Barnes believes the school is needed and "would be a fitting memorial to the late Homer Garrison who did so much to build a fine state police system."

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

School boards can order a trustee election recount if the candidate was defeated by less than five percent of the votes cast even though a district court will order a recount under a different law (as in Starr County case), says Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.

In another recent opinion, Martin said that Bee County commissioners must provide for competitive bids on the purchase of a new electronic voting system that costs more than $2,000.

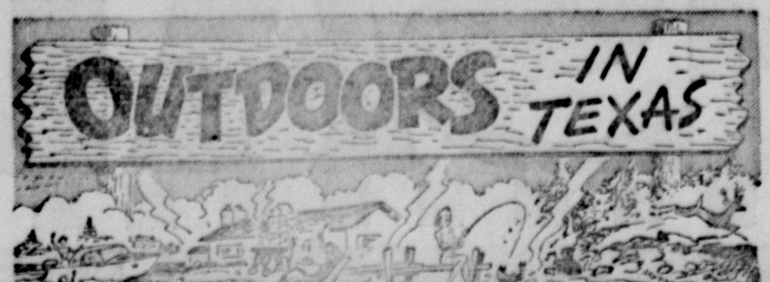
THE CAMERON HERALD



By Vern Sanford

One thing a fisherman soon learns is that rules are made to be broken. Not laws, not safety rules, but rules of tradition.

Some things about fishing are passed along as gospel. This to the extent that many people, particularly beginners, falsely believe that these are basic truths.

Fishing for bass with a topwater lure is a good example. It has been said many times that the only way to dupe a wise old bass into striking is to toss the lure out, let it remain idle for several seconds, then barely twitch it.

Glen Hayden, an ardent Austin angler who traditionally finishes among the winners in bass tournaments held around the state, says he prefers to work a lure fast. This is contrary to much that has been preached and written on the subject. But Glen gets results and results are what count.

A topwater lure usually is regarded as a warm-weather bait. It's used when things like frogs and insects are out—creatures a hungry bass would expect on the surface. But a few years back a San Antonio angler was fishing on Lake LBJ in Central Texas during a cold, windy day late in January.

Fishing was slow, so he decided to try a surface plug. Now, any sensible angler knows that topwater bait won't work this time of year. But despite the odds against him, this one tried it. It paid off with a bass that weighed better than nine pounds. It was one of the largest caught from the impoundment during the entire year.

Recently a friend was telling me about an experience he had with a beginning fisherman he took out. He gave the man one of those torpedo-shaped surface plugs with propellers fore and aft. His compadre simply "threw the bait out" then reeled it in steadily.

"I just started to tell him he was doing it all wrong, that the bait was to be fished in jerks," the veteran angler remembers. "But just then he caught a bass.

"I considered it an accident. But I didn't tell him so."

As things turned out, the beginner put five bass in that boat before "teacher" had a strike. On this day the bass preferred a steady retrieve to an erratic one.

Later the same week I saw some people with a nice string of bass. When I asked how they'd caught them, they said they were using plastic worms.

This wasn't surprising, since the plastic worm is a deadly bass bait. But something made me ask how they were working the worms.

dragged shallow and steadily along the bottom. This time, however, the bass went for a worm through the water.

Lo and behold, they were simply tossing the weighted worms out and reeling them straight back, as they would a bait with a built-in action. You know and I know and the bass know that a plastic worm, to be successful, should be hopped

All of which just goes to show that no rule in fishing is infallible. Tradition rules are made to be broken. The angler who goes by the book, so to speak, won't be right every time.

Fish, thankfully, can't read books or outdoor columns. Wouldn't it be a dull sport if every fish reacted as we expected?
